In order to give an opportunity to farmers in this area and anyone interested, the Heatherwick Implement company on route 45 south of Frankfort, is holding open house at its place of business all day Saturday, March 30, to exhibit the new Allis Chalmers tractor.

Hold Last Rites For Fred L. Brown; Farmed Near Marley

Last rites were held in St. John's Evangelical church, in Mokena, Sunday afternoon, for Fred L. Brown, 72, who died in his home Thursday March 21. Mr. Brown had been ill for several years having undergone surgery a number of times.

He also suffered a severely crushed foot about two years ago while operating a tractor on his farm west of Marley.

Born in Joliet April 20, 1884 he moved with his parents to a farm in New Lenox.

He was married to the former Alma Schiek on Dec. 17, 1917. Together they operated farms in Frankfort and Mokena and a restaurant in Lockport. Eight years ago they purchased the farm on Willow road, New Lenox township, where they have lived since. For a while they lived in Texas and Wisconsin also and for 10 years he was manager of the Hobbs hotel in Joliet.

Surviving is his wife; two sons Kenneth of Frankfort, and Stanley of Mokena; two daughters, Mrs. Ruth White and Mrs. Virginia Erickson, Mokena; 21 grandchildren and five great grandchildren; a daughter Mrs. Vivian Nelson died two years ago. Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Ida Weis, Joliet, and Mrs. Lillian Boutwell, Topeka, Kans., and three brothers, Ray of Joliet; William, Tacoma, Washington, and Walter of Lockport. A brother Bert, town clerk at New Lenox, died last year.

The Rev. William Riemann officiated at the services. Burial was in Maplewood cemetery, New Lenox.

Many times an aerial photograph will help you locate old boundary lines, survey lines and tile lines on your farmland that you can't see at all from the ground.

Thanksgiving day has been claimed every year since Abraham Lincoln began the custom.

Mokena Lions Announce Plans for Easter Egg Hunt, Pancake Day

The Mokena Lions club has planned several activities for the coming months, including the annual Easter egg hunt and Pancake day.

The egg hunt will take place on Easter day, which this year falls on April 21. Mayor John Scarth and Roy Richardson, who for the past several years have been in charge of the egg hunt, will continue to function as chairmen for the event.

Each member of the club is asked to deliver a dozen and a half colored eggs—cooked of course—to Richardson's market on Front street before Easter Saturday, April 20.

Pancake day will come early this year. The date set is May 25 and cakes will be available from 7 a.m. to 2:30 in the afternoon. The affairs will be held indoors this time instead of under canvas on a street corner. This year the Lions will use the VFW facilities on Wolf road.

May 25 comes on Saturday—a leisurely day for most people—serving the pancakes at VFW hall will not put any strain on commuters' time tables.

The Lions will begin the ticket sale for the event the latter part of April. Plans are being made to conduct contests among grade school youngsters in connection with Pancake day and prizes will be awarded.

At a recent business meeting of the Mokena Lions $25 a year for the next four years was earmarked for the Lincoln-Way Phy-Chem Society scholarship fund. Joseph Bernardin was appointed third vice president, replacing Roy Richardson who resigned from the office.

Install New Carpet In Sanctuary of St. Peter's Church

New carpeting is being laid in the Sanctuary of the St. Peter's Evangelical church in Frankfort. The Wilton loop carpet is in three-color green tweed.

Members of the Women's Guild are responsible for the purchase of this addition to brighten the Sanctuary.

The Brotherhood of the church refinished the floor and about 40 men and women removed the old carpeting and prepared the floor for the installation of the new carpeting.

Recently 26 men and women of the congregation placed blackboard and bulletin boards in the various classrooms, supplied by the Church school, who are also arranging for the purchase of various religious pictures.

The congregation is working hard to make the renovation to the church by Palm Sunday.

Willie Kramer Section Winner In Spelldown

Willy Kramer, 7th grade student in St. Jude's parochial school, New Lenox, is champion speller in section 7 of the 8th annual Will County schools spelling contest. There were ten semi-finalists in the spelldown held in the Mokena grade school last Monday. Willie will move on to the finals to be held in Joliet next month. Runner-up was Judy Wheeler, 13, 8th grader in the Ann Rutledge school, Frankfort. Judy went down when she mis-spelled "tonsillitis".

Other sectional champion candidates were Ellen Hopkins, of Frankfort Community Consolidated school; Betty Lehmann and Shirley Peterson, of Mokena Public school; Becky Sheeler, Martha Weiss, and Paul Mikar, of Haven school, New Lenox; Monica Delaney, of Reiter school, New Lenox; and Noralee Stankus, of St. Mary's Mokena.

Teachers from the Lincoln-Way High school were judges. The annual Will county spelling contest is sponsored by the Joliet Herald-News.

Heart Attack Fatal To Stanley Coe; Burial In Homer

Stanley C. Coe, 67, a resident of the Marley community, died Friday afternoon, March 22 in Silver Cross hospital. He was stricken with a sudden heart attack in his home Tuesday and was removed to the hospital by ambulance where he suffered a second fatal attack.

Friends and relatives were shocked to learn of his death as apparently Mr. Coe was in good health. He retired from farming this year with a sale of farm machinery to be held this Saturday.

A native of Oneida, N. Y. where he was born Dec. 27, 1889, he had farmed in Homer township on 167th street, for 41 years.

Mr. Coe was a member of the Maple Street Arbor of Gleaners and the Marley Community church.

Surviving are his widow, Beatrice; two stepsons, Robert of Beecher and Walter of St. Anne; seven grandchildren; two brothers Allen of Manchester, Conn and Donald, of Williamsville, N. Y., several nieces and nephews, most of whom live in the eastern states.

Funeral services were held at the Sonntag funeral home in Joliet Monday afternoon with the Rev. Ray Hamer officiating. Interment was in Hadley cemetery, Homer twp.

Last Saturday was the last day for school board candidates to file nominating petitions. Candidates for school directors will be selected at caucuses to be held election day, April 13 is the date for all school elections. Where boards of education are elected the polling places will be open from 12 noon to 7 p.m. Voting hours in districts where directors are chosen are expected to vary.

At Mokena voters will receive three ballots, one bearing the names of candidates for the Lincoln-Way high school board; one for the Mokena grade school board, and one asking approval of an increase in the building fund for the Mokena grade school, Dist. 159.

The present tax rate for the building fund is .0875 cents. The grade school board is asking the voters to approve a new maximum rate of .1875.

The present rate of eight and three quarters cents has yielded an amount barely sufficient to maintain and repair the Carpenter street school and grounds. Now that Willow Crest school has been added to the Mokena system the current building fund rate is inadequate to meet the increased custodial and maintenance costs, it was pointed out.

Approval of the increase, a board spokesman explained, does not mean that the maximum rate will be levied. The board, he added, will continue to levy only as much as it considers necessary to meet demands.

Two members are to be elected to the Mokena grade school board this year and there are but two candidates—Lyman Teague and Robert Geuther, both incumbents. The terms are for three years.

Neither will there be a contest for the Lincoln-Way high school board. There are three to be elected and there are but three candidates, all of whom are now serving on the board, Albert H. Krusemark, Frankfort Lorin Schleeter, Manhattan, and Lawrence Kohl, Mokena.

High school district voters will ballot at the grade schools in Manhattan, New Lenox, Frankfort and Mokena. The Carpenter street school will be used as the polling place for the school elections in Mokena.

Two are to be elected to the Frankfort grade school board and there are three candidates. Dr. Carl Marienfeld, Lester Heisner and Wilbur Hossbach. Dr. Marienfeld and Mr. Heisner are incumbents.

And the new district at Lincoln Estates resulting from the consolidation of the Ann Rutledge and Gatter districts, will elect a seven-man board. The polling place will be at Ann Rutledge school and will be open from 12 noon to 7 p.m. Voters from there will have to go to Frankfort if they vote in the Lincoln-Way high school election. It is expected that at some latter date the high school board will add the Rutledge school to its list of polling places.

There will not be any contest in the new district as but seven

No Contests in Town Election

A light vote is forecast in the Frankfort township election next Tuesday, April 2.

There are no contests for any of the offices so there is no reason to expect much of a vote.

The Cooper and Hostert garage will serve as the polling place in Mokena and the village hall at Frankfort. Polls will open at 6 a.m. and close at 5 p.m.

Eight persons are to be elected. The candidates are:

It's Right to Write!

"One good thing about our Congressman," George began.

"Only one?" Molly smiled.

"Well, there are several. But this is the best that any Congressman can have, seems to me."

"And that is?"

"He always wants to know the views of the people who elected him. He doesn't think he knows all the answers, just because he's in Washington!"

"So?"

"So I'm going to write him a letter now, while I'm thinking about it, concerning this biggest peacetime budget in our history. It's got to be cut, and he can help do it!"

"But George—national defense, and all..."

"It's not national defense that needs the cutting—it's the civilian Ex-pense. A lot of the big non-military spending programs have got to be studied closely—and cut, or this country of ours is going broke!"

Molly rose and went to her desk.

"I'm getting you pen and paper," she said, "right now, while you're angry—and I hope a lot of people will follow suit!"

One of the main advantages of reduced corn tillage is lower production costs.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane

Women's Travel Authority

Sooner or later most drivers get lost and have to ask directions. Here are some tips on asking questions so as to get the most helpful answers—and on listening so you'll remember them.

When you stop to ask directions, get out of the car and go over to the person you're addressing. After all, he's doing you a favor. Sitting in the car and yelling "Hey, you" is one way of not getting help.

Tell him where you want to go, giving as many details as you know. Mention names of roads, nearby towns, etc.

In listening to directions, concentrate on what the other person is saying—not on the next question you want to ask. Try to get visual symbols: "turn right at the big red barn just past the bridge" is much better than "it's the fifth road after the second red light." Don't accept mileage figures alone: "turn left when you get to the Shell service station—about two miles ahead" is better than "turn left about two miles from here..." Try to get specific road numbers—U.S. 6, U.S. 101, etc. Ask if turn offs are well indicated, and, if so, how. Ask names of towns you'll pass through so you'll be sure you're going right.

Repeat the directions to the person; then repeat them to your passengers.

And don't worry. You can always stop and ask again.

Women's Views And News

by Gail Wilson

Were you ever faced with a problem or situation that bothered you a great deal? Did you sit down and try to figure it out, or did you just talk about it?

I once knew a woman who lived on the first floor of a large building. Her apartment was off the alley, across from a butcher shop that did a tremendous business. Much of the merchandise came packed in cardboard containers and wooden boxes. When these were empty the butcher would carry them across the alley and dump them near a telegraph post, directly in front of one of the bedrooms of this woman's apartment.

These cartons and boxes contained bits of meat, fat and bones that attracted flies, insects and rats. For a long time the woman gave this matter a great deal of serious thought. Finally, she called up the health department and they told her that measures would be taken to stop the nuisance. For several days the butcher complied with the order. A few days later however, he again emptied refuse under the lady's window. Once again she called the health department, and again the culprit complied for a few days.

The woman did not want to contact the city authorities any more, because of the fear that the butcher might be arrested, and she did not want him to get into trouble. But she realized that this situation was now up to her, and this is what she did:

Every evening, after the place of business was closed, she shoveled the debris into the boxes that were stacked around the telegraph post and dragged these containers to the side door of the butcher shop. Every morning, when he opened his store, her offensive neighbor had to move the refuse. So he took it down to the furnace and disposed of it.

The butcher never saw this woman at work, but he realized that someone with a strong will was out to gain a point. Little by little his resistance broke down. He learned to carry his cartons down to the furnace and burn them. Now the alley is beautifully clean and neat.

After taking the 103 pound title in the Southwest Conference, and placing in the state tournament at Champaign, he was invited by Mr. Bruno, coach of Kankakee, to wrestle in the A.A.U. tournament at McKinley Park representing the Blue Island Knights of Columbus.

Woody and his two brothers who also wrestle at Lincoln-Way community high school entered A.A.U. last Friday evening. Ken was eliminated after his first bout and Eddie after a score of 4 to 2 in a second bout that gave him seventh place. Woody wrestled and won three bouts Friday evening and returned on Saturday to win again and take the A.A.U. championship in the 108 pound class. As a team the Blue Island Knights of Columbus tied for second place in the tournament.

A.A.U. is open to all wrestlers. It has a primary, novice, and an open division.

Sport Car Show Opens Today at Park Forest

Sport and foreign enthusiasts will have a field day at Park Forest this week-end. Beginning today and continuing thru Saturday the Mall of the Park Forest shopping center will be dotted with various makes of sport and foreign automobiles. The exhibit has been arranged by Park Forest Business and Professional Men's Association.

Interest in foreign cars and American and foreign sport jobs has increased in the south suburban area in the past year. Proof of this is found in the fact that dealers report such models are purchased practically as soon as they reach the floor.

Among the American sport cars to be seen at Park Forest this week-end are the Corvette, Thunderbird, Fury and Golden Hawk. Foreign makes will include several models of the Volkswagen, Rapier, Citroen, Volve, English Ford, MG, Panther and Jaguar.

Important and interesting facts and features concerning the exhibit will be attached to each car—for the benefit of the average viewer. The sport car "bug" doesn't need any such presentation as he knows all about them already.

Orland Baseball Teams Need Coaches

The Orland Park youth association is in need of coaches for baseball teams this summer. The program calls for a league Small Fry team and possibly three or four farm teams; a Babe Ruth team, and a team in the Cook County policeman's league.

Any men interested in serving as a coach on any of these teams, also any boys 16 or 17 years of age, not reaching their 18th birthday before Sept. 15, who wish to sign up for the policemen's league team, should phone Bill Zinn, FI 9-0228.

As an aid to deserving students, nearly 550 scholarships are available at Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago. Mohican Indians are not entirely extinct.

SPORTS TALK

Now that spring is in the air, a lot of our readers have been asking "what do you do when your outboard quits running—what's happened?" Seems they've been having a little trouble after storing the outboard all winter.

Well, let's remember that outboard motors are relatively simple mechanisms when compared with automobile or airplane engines, and normally they are a source of little or no grief or aggravation for their owners. But like all mechanical things, they go haywire once in a while. In an emergency situation, follow these simple rules:

1. Check the fuel supply. A dry gas tank causes more engine failure than anything else.

2. If there is fuel, check the proper pressure in the fuel tank. Pump the primer, then press a nail (or similar object) to the fuel line connector. If gas comes out, you can eliminate the idea of a clogged fuel line.

3. Check the sediment bowl. If it appears to have too much foreign matter or water in it—drain it. That may be the cause of your trouble. Now try to start the motor.

4. If the motor doesn't work after the above tests, remove the spark plugs and replace them with new ones.

Johnson engineers emphasize that the wisest thing to do to avoid the possibility of trouble is to have your motor checked periodically by a skilled mechanic. This will avoid headaches after months of winter storage.

Now for our sports question—sent in by A. S. Here it is:

Q.—Babe Ruth, of course, set the home run record, but who holds second place in home run production?

A.—Second place in home runs is held by quite a few players - those who hit 59 homers in one season are: Hank Greenberg, Jimmy Fox and Hack Wilson.

We are sending A. S. a sports gift for sending in that question and we'll be glad to send one to you, too. All you have to do is send in a question that we think has more general interest than all others received and we'll send along a gift immediately. Send yours today to: Sports Talk, Jack Maypole, 218 East Ontario Street, Chicago, Illinois.

Mokena's new Willow Crest school held an open house last Sunday afternoon and more than 200 persons attended. The new school was opened for use Feb. 11 and thus brought relief from the congestion that resulted from an overgrown enrollment. The school choir sang and the visitors were welcomed by Mrs. Elizabeth Cappel, the principal. Lyman Teague, secretary of the school board introduced Robert Guether, board president; Walter Shewski, a board member; Watson Healy, one of the firm architects that designed the school; Mrs. George H. Bills, PTA president, and Will County Superintendent Verne E. Crackel. Supt. A Suggestion for Bremen Board

The Bremen township high school board has an excellent opportunity now to win friends and influence people by calling off its referendum on a proposed site for a new high school.

It is too late to remove the proposition from the ballot but the board could make a public statement to the effect that it required more time to select a site and ask the citizens of the district to vote "NO" on proposal in the regular school election April 13.

The board could well afford to take the stump, if necessary, against approval of the site, located as it is in the middle of what Tinley Park leaders have designated as an industrial area in the master plan for the community.

This industrial area, if fully developed, will eventually have an equalized assessed valuation equal to the present total for the whole of Bremen township, according to engineers employed by the planning experts that set up the master plan for Tinley.

Such an increase in the tax base would be of enormous benefit to the various governmental agencies in the area, the school in particular. Similar benefit would accrue to home and farm owners and business firms who now must carry the entire, back-breaking load.

The rates which will be used to figure the 1956 tax bills, payable this year, are not yet available but it is not expected they will change the fact that the combined grade and high school taxes for Bremen township are the highest in the state. On the list compiled for school districts in Illinois with 1,000 or more population in 1956, the names of Posen (Robbins), Tinley Park, Arbor Park (Oak Forest), Midlothian, Forest Ridge and Markham like that of Abou Ben Adhem, led all the rest and in that order.

The combined school tax—Bremen high and grade—was $3.226 per $100 of equalized assessed valuation in Posen; $3.174 in Tinley; $3.168 in Arbor Park; $3.10 in Midlothian; $3.098 for Forest Ridge and $3.078 in Markham.

The tax rate for Bremen high school last year was $1.56. This is listed as the highest tax rate for high schools in Cook county. It is time to get some help and industry is the only solution.

The Bremen high school district has exhausted its bonding power at this time, which is why it plans to purchase the proposed Tinley Park site on contract. The site—comprised of 40 acres—is priced at $75,000. The board proposes to spread its payments over four years, diverting money from the building fund for the purpose at the rate of some $18,000 a year. The building fund, for those unfamiliar with school budgets is made up of the tax money levied for the repair, maintenance and upkeep of buildings and grounds.

If a site were already available the district would not be able to erect a school on it for at least five years. It just doesn't have the money.

In view of that fact it seems to us that the sensible thing for the board to do is call the deal off for now, hire expert help in choosing a site and then wait until it can issue bonds to pay for it. Another year's delay will not make any real difference in getting the school ready but it could make a big difference in the district's financial future.

on their Cat and Dog badge. Mrs. Hal Kent has volunteered to act as consultant and will have her Great Dane follow the pattern of exercise learned in obedience training. Her Siamese cat will also be shown to the girls.

The troop is under the leadership of Mrs. Arthur Blue and Mrs. Harry Frombach.

BROWNIE TROOP 460

The mothers of Brownie troop 460 met in the home of Mrs. Stanley Sterkowitz March 19 for a social evening. Under the direction of their leader, Mrs. Sidney Feiwell, many plans for future, activities and projects for the troop were discussed. Mrs. Charles Moore will assist. Arrangements have been made to attend the matinee performance of "Sleeping Beauty" at the Goodman theatre Sunday, April 7. Many other springtime outdoor activities are being planned.

TROOP 334

Members of the Girl Scout troop 334, meeting in the Methodist church, have spent the past month or more planning for a double overnight at Thorn creek during the spring vacation. Working with Mrs. Erwin Funk, outdoor consultant, the girls have planned menus, estimated costs, practised making bed rolls and worked out a Kaper Chart fixing responsibilities for each girl during the camp session. In addition, they have worked in two separate groups to plan a campfire program and a Scouts Own.

In observance of Girl Scout week, the troop read and studied about Girl Guides in other lands, such as Great Britain, Australia, Brazil, Egypt, etc. Vivian Bacon read a letter received from her Pen-pal in Canada. Many of the girls correspond with Philippine Girl Scouts and some are planning to write to Scouts in Sweden.

Badge activity has been as usual and a badge awarding ceremony will be part of the closing activities on the Thorn creek session.

Union Carbide Buys Plant Site In Calumet Sag Industrial Area

(CNS) The move of big industry into the Calumet Sag Channel area to be ready for Chicago's new era as a world port is underway.

Union Carbide and Carbon corporation announced Monday it has acquired about 90 acres on the north side of the Calumet Sag Channel at 131st street and Crawford avenue in Alsip.

John Alsterda Jr., president of Alsip board of trustees, said the decision to locate in Alsip "will substantially benefit the growth and development of our community."

"This move is a forerunner of other developments now in various stages of negotiation which will result in a tremendous increase in tax revenues to the village."

The site is part of a 300 acre tract being developed by Joseph Rubinfeld, New York and Chicago realtor, on behalf of Arthur J. Brown who sold the property to Union Carbide.

Union Carbide is one of the nation's major corporations, with annual sales exceeding one billion dollars.

It will erect a modern expandable distribution office building and warehouse in Alsip to handle its products. The plant, with an area of 200,000 to 300,000 square feet, will be the consolidated center in the Chicago region for the receiving, storage, packaging and shipment of products of the divisions of Union Carbide.

The location is just west of the fast growing inland waterways development at Lake Calumet. It will be served by two railroads, the Indiana Harbor Belt and the Baltimore and Ohio Chicago Terminal. Also adjacent to the property are principal roads and the route of the proposed Northern Illinois Toll Highway.

The new Union Carbide distribution center is in one of two major industrial areas being developed through concerted efforts of Alsip village officials by planned annexations, rezonings and close contact with industrial developers.

Particularly active in persuading Union Carbide to locate in this area were Alsterda, Dudley R. Sullivan, village attorney, H. W. Coffman, Indiana Harbor Belt Railroad and W. E. Oliver, Baltimore and Ohio Chicago Terminal Railroad.

Alsterda said, "These developments will make possible comprehensive public improvements such as paved streets, parks and recreational areas, adequate and ultra modern school facilities, all of which will be accomplished at no additional burden to the homeowner."

"The Union Carbide move also definitely assures the extension of the present village water system, thus making water available to many more business and residential users."

Union Carbide, through its principal divisions, produces alloys and metals, chemicals, electrodes, carbon products, batteries, industrial gases, synthetic fibers and plastics. While Union Carbide is primarily a producer of raw materials for industry, its well known trademarked products include such brands as "Eveready" batteries, "Prestone" anti-freeze, Dynel textile fibers and "Bakelite" and "Vinylite" plastics.

Union Carbide has been a pioneer in research for peacetime applications of nuclear energy and operates the Oak Ridge and Paudcah nuclear installations for the Atomic Energy Commission.

Divisions of Union Carbide have long operated several plants in the Chicago area. Linde Air Products has important plants in East Chicago that manufacture oxygen and other atmospheric gases and sapphire for gems and for industrial use. Carbide and Carbon Chemicals operates a chemical plant at Whiting. Visking Co., located in Chicago, manufactures food casings and plastic film. Neighboring Ottawa, Ill., is the location of a Bakelite Company plant for making plastic materials.

Clarke, Hoover Push Bill for State Study

Harold A. Hoover, of Palos Park, and Terrel E. Clarke, of Western Springs, the two Republican representatives from the second representative district, are the chief sponsors of a bill (H. B. 414) introduced in the Illinois house of representatives a few days ago to create a 9-man commission to study the problems and organic laws pertaining to the state government and to review the findings and recommendations of a similar commission (the so-called "Schafer Commission") created by the 66th general assembly in 1949. Many of the representatives from the Cook county suburban area joined Hoover and Clarke in sponsoring the bill.

If the bill becomes law, the commission will be patterned somewhat after the well known commission which studied the federal government. Hoover and Clarke feel that the commission could do much to improve efficiency and economy in the state government. Such a commission was recommended by Lloyd Morey, former president of the University of Illinois, and Attorney Albert E. Jenner, Jr., of Chicago, who reported on the operation of the state auditor's office.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane

Women's Travel Authority

Do you know what to do to keep your car from boiling over if you get stuck in a traffic jam?

Here are some tips:

Every couple of minutes, race the engine moderately for about thirty seconds. Do not let the motor idle indefinitely at its lowest speed. Do not turn off the ignition even if the delay seems interminable. By racing your engine, you speed up the fan and increase the water circulation

in the cooling system and radiator.

If you have automatic transmission, put it in neutral when you've stopped. Do not leave it in "drive" position.

Before a long drive in hot weather, have your service station dealer check to be sure the radiator is clean and that the fan belt is tight—doesn't slip.

If—even after these precautions
—the radiator does boil over,
here's what you should do:

Pull off to the side of the road;
if possible, get off the road completely. Try to get the car in shade.

Open the hood and wait for the temperature to go down. Then, using a rag or handkerchief, carefully take off the radiator cap. If you have a pressure cap, remove it at arm's length, with head averted.

Add warm or moderately cool water—not cold water. If you are forced to use very cold water, do not add it until the gauge shows the temperature is all the way down to normal.

The best tip—pre-travel car care is your best insurance for pleasant summer driving.

fully given in arranging

Charts Path Of Growth For Suburbs

Dr. Clyde F. Kohn, professor of geography, at Northwestern University, points to section on the map, where future growth will take place in the southwest section of Cook County. Men from Tinley Park viewing the map with interest are Mayor Frank Jeffords on the professor's right and next to him, Charles Smith, president of Tinley Park Associates. Closest to the map, facing him is Walter Fierke, school superintendent, next to him is Harry Trevarthen, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. The professor spoke at Bremen High school last week at the afternoon session of a Teachers Institute.

Baby Pigs Make Good Gains on Creep Rations

Suckling pigs make economical gains on creep rations.

At this stage in their lives they'll gain a pound on less than two pounds of feed, says G. R. Carlisle, extension livestock specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Provide a good creep ration when the pigs are a week to 10 days old, Carlisle suggests. Good gains during the suckling stage will mean heavier, healthier pigs at weaning time.

The one feed baby pigs like best is hulled oats. If you have or can get hulled oats, feed them and a pig supplement. And shelled corn when the pigs have started to eat well. When whole oat kernels appear in the pigs' droppings, switch completely to shelled corn and supplement.

A good home-mixed creep feed might include 30 pounds each of hulled or rolled oats and coarse-ground corn, 10 pounds each of soybean meal, meat scraps or alfalfa leaf meal, sugar or dried molasses and dried skim milk or fish meal, 1 to 2.5 pounds of mineral mix and 1 gram of antibiotics.

Locate the creep where it is convenient for the pigs to eat. In bad weather pigs will eat twice as much feed from an inside creep as from one located outside. A creep permits baby pigs to find their way to food but keeps out older animals that would get it all unless prevented.

Soil Treatment Pays Dividends to Hay Producers

Illinois farmers could increase their hay crop income more than $69 million if they used the best soil treatments they know how to use.

A. L. Lang, University of Illinois agronomist, bases this estimate on the 1956 yield figures from 885 hay plots on the 23 soil experiment fields in the state.

Lang points out that hay yields on all untreated soil plots averaged .7 ton an acre. On the plots where the best soil treatments were applied, yields averaged 3.5 tons an acre. Average hay yield for all Illinois farms last year was 2 tons an acre.

Farmers averaged 1.3 tons more hay an acre by using some soil treatment than they might have if they had used no treatment at all. But if they had followed the best recommended balanced fertility program, Lang says they would have been able to average another 1.5 tons an acre.

If this extra hay yield had been obtained on all 2.4 million acres harvested in Illinois in 1956, it would have added more than 3 million tons to the crop. At $18.50 a ton, farmers would have had more than $69 million additional income from hay.

24th annual event, says the program will be directed toward helping swine growers cut costs in producing high-quality, meat-type hogs.

A full morning program has been arranged, starting at 10:30 a.m. in the University Auditorium. Topics for discussion include "Levels of Feeding Bred Sows and Gilts", "Does Limited Feeding Affect Carcass Quality?" "Free-Choice and Complete Rations on Pasture and Drylot", "Levels of Oats in Rations for 100-Pound Pigs" and "Programs for Selecting Meat-Type Hogs."

Featured speakers in the afternoon will discuss "Which Way in the Hog Business—Boom or Bust?" "Modern Pork Merchandising," and "A Hog Program That Works for Me."

Inspection of the University Swine Farm and the experimental work currently in progress will get under way at 8:00 a.m.

The Block and Bridle club will serve a barbecued porkchop luncheon at noon.

Bishop Announces New Rules Covering the Eucharistic Fast

In a letter dated March 25, Bishop Martin D. McNamara, has notified priests and people of the Joliet diocese of the new regulations concerning the Eucharistic fast and concerning afternoon and evening Masses.

Pope Pius XII has replaced all previous rules concerning the Eucharistic fast with a new law which permits all the faithful to receive Holy Communion after fasting from solid foods for only three hours and from liquids for only one hour. Water does not break the fast, it was added.

The new ruling, which the Pope said he issued, "at the insistent request of bishops," also permits the celebration of mass in the afternoon or evening any or every day of the year if the local bishop deems it necessary "for the spiritual welfare of a considerable number of the faithful."

In simplifying and extending the relaxed fasting laws which he issued in 1953, the Pope urged all priests and laymen who are able to do so to continue "to observe the old and venerable form of the Eucharistic fast before mass and Holy Communion." He also stressed that all who make use of the new concessions "must compensate for the good received by becoming shining examples of a Christian life, and principally with works of penance and charity."

The new legislation makes the regulations governing the Eucharistic fast the same for morning masses, and eliminates the need for asking special dispensations.

In addition, there is no longer need for a sick person to ask permission from a priest to take medicine—solid or liquid regardless of their composition—or any non-alcoholic beverage at any time before receiving Holy Communion.

Likewise the previous ban on alcoholic beverages has been modified. It is now allowed to take alcoholic beverages up to three hours before receiving Holy Communion. The new legislation which became effective Monday, states that the new time limits on taking solids and liquids are to be observed differently by the laity and the clergy.

The clergy must begin their three hour fast three hours before they begin the celebration of mass. The laity, on the other hand, need only begin their fast three hours before they will receive Holy Communion. Concerning the point that water does not break the fast it was explained that this applies to mineral, carbonated, chemically purified or natural water.

Joliet Diocese Shows Big Gains Since It's Creation 8 Years Ago

Last Sunday, March 24, the Roman Catholic diocese of Joliet celebrated its eighth anniversary. On that date in 1949 Bishop Martin D. McNamara was officially installed as the first Bishop of the newly created diocese of Joliet in memorable and impressive ceremonies at the Cathedral of St. Raymond.

Since that time the diocese, under the leadership of Bishop McNamara, has grown steadily. Today the Catholic population numbers 153,557 souls, as compared with 89,000 members in 1949.

The diocese extends over 4,218 miles and includes seven Illinois counties: Will, DuPage, Kankakee, Ford, Iroquois, Kendall and Grundy. Will county heads the list with 27 parishes and six missions, while DuPage county is close behind with 24 parishes and one mission. In Kankakee county the diocese maintains 16 parishes and three missions while Iroquois county has seven parishes and three missions. Five Catholic parishes and one mission are located in Grundy county. Ford county, in the southern tip of the diocese, has four parishes and two missions and Kendall county has one Catholic parish and two missions at the present time.

In 1949 the diocese was composed of 71 parishes and 12 missions. Today there are 84 parishes and 18 missions. Thirteen new parishes have been established in the diocese since 1949; seven in DuPage county, four in Will county and two in Kankakee county.

When the diocese was founded in 1949 there were 85 diocesan priests, 130 priests from religious orders, 61 religious brothers and 929 nuns.

Today there are 122 diocesan priests, 134 priests from religious orders, 80 religious brothers and 1,344 nuns.

The number of parochial elementary schools in the diocese has jumped from 43 to 61 in the eight-year period. There are two orphanages, fourteen high schools and three colleges in the diocese.

Chief among the milestones in the eight-year diocesan history was the completion of the magnificent Cathedral of St. Raymond Nonnatus, dedicated in 1955.

Among the most recently completed projects are the circular high school, St. Patrick's in Kankakee, the new St. Francis academy in Joliet and the addition and priory at Joliet Catholic High School. The latest diocesan high school, St. Francis in

Red Cross Fund Drive Lags in Will County

The San Francisco earthquake and recent tornadoes in the south are adding to the already heavy Red Cross disaster expenditures for the Red Cross as all National Red Cross disaster reserves were depleted in 1957 when more than $32,000,000 was spent in assisting disaster victims.

Mr. George O'Brien, chairman Red Cross Fund campaign M, pointed out that individual families affected by disasters must look to the Red Cross for assistance in their recovery as government funds are available only for restoration of public properties and clearance of debris. The National Red Cross underwrites disaster expenditure in any community and while the Will county chapter has been fortunate in not needing this assistance since the October, 1954 floods, the people of Will county out of gratitude for being spared these calamities, should be generous in adding a little more to their usual contributions in response to the great need of other communities.

In addition to its disaster program the Red Cross can in no way slight its other services which are essential to the welfare of our armed forces, and to the safety and health of every community. Because of this Mr. O'Brien urges all out support of the Red Cross this year.

To date approximately $38,000 has been reported toward the $82,950 goal of Will County Chapter which is below the National percentage of giving for the first time in many years.

Monkey Business Lands Alsip Man In Trouble

(CNS) Monkey business with a real monkey led to the indictment in U. S. district court Friday of Walter O'Brien, also known as Goldman, 36 years old of 11559 Lee road, Alsip, on charges of impersonating an FBI agent.

O'Brien, a red headed insurance investigator employed by Couch Adjustment, 2169 West 11th ave., Gary, Ind., was charged in three counts with exhibiting and possessing on July 8 and Dec. 17, 1956, a false FBI identification card. He is charged also on the latter occasion with representing himself as a federal agent with intent to defraud, thereby obtaining a power of attorney from Miss Violet Curtis, owner of the John Manus Pizzeria, 5408 West 95th st., Oak Lawn, and from Kenneth Arnold, her pizza maker, retaining a lawyer to represent them in a personal injury action.

According to Assistant U. S. Attorney Donald M. Lonchar, it all began because Miss Curtis wanted a monkey for advertising purposes in her pizzeria. Her brother has a tropical fish store, and located thru pet channels the nearest monkey owner as being O'Brien, who had been to California. The monkey's name was Gabby.

According to Lonchar, O'Brien was willing to sell Gabby, for $85, but told Miss Curtis on July 8 that he only did it because the monkey did not fit into his busness of transporting prisoners all over as an FBI agent. To prove his point, he exhibited a shoulder holster with a gun, whereupon Gabby became extremely excited, Lonchar said.

The second encounter, Dec. 17 happened when the car in which Miss Curtis was driving Arnold to work collided with a CTA bus at 63rd and Lawndale. O'Brien happened to be driving two cars behind, and introduced himself again as that FBI agent, Lonchar said.

After they had finished with police, he accompanied them to the restaurant and assured them he could, by virtue of his position, get them the best lawyer, Lonchar said. He telephoned Attorney Bernard Fisher, and had them sign two contracts retaining Fisher for the case. A suit has been filed.

All went well until poor Gabby died, of cirrhosis of the liver, according to O'Brien. Then they began to check up, discovering O'Brien's FBI Monkey business, according to Lonchar.

U. of I. Ag. School Will be Host To High School Students April 13

The University of Illinois college of agriculture will throw open its doors to high school students on Saturday, April 13. That's the date for the annual student guest day in Urbana.

Dean Louis B. Howard of the college of agriculture will welcome the student guests to the university when he presents the challenge to young men in agriculture. Demand for college graduates in agricultural studies and opportunities for jobs in agricultural industry, education and research have never been greater.

The student guests will learn about housing, scholarships, loans, student jobs, social activities in student life, campus activities and how they round out a student's education.

Enrollment procedures, freshman week and registration also will be explained.

Barbecued chicken will be served for lunch at the stock pavilion to all the student guests. Department heads and students will do the serving. Entertainment will be provided by the Ag Student Council, and the College's Student News and Information Bureau will present "What Students Wear."

High school students who are especially interested in dairy technology or agricultural journalism will have a chance to attend special sessions in the afternoon covering these two fields.

Charles Wendt, Champaign freshman who is immediate past state FFA president, will discuss his first year at the University of Illinois.

After 2:15 in the afternoon, the student guests are free to talk with professors, advisers and department heads about opportunities at the University of Illinois. They may also wish to tour the campus, visit various buildings or see the agricultural farms and experimental plots.

Registration for the students will start at 9:00 a. m. in the stock pavilion. The morning session starts at 9:30 in Lincoln hall theater, while the afternoon session starts at 1:30 in Room 135 Animal Sciences laboratory. E. H. Regnier, professor of rural recreation, will be master of ceremonies for the day's program.

All high school students and their parents are especially invited to spend the whole day in Urbana and attend these sessions.

Regional Group Meets Tomorrow In Markham Hall

Planning as a region may come a step closer for all municipalities south of the Sanitary and Ship Canal in Cook county and Monee and Crete in Will county as a result of a meeting of all 42 communities under the sponsorship of the Regional association of South Cook County tomorrow night, March 29, in the council room of the Markham village hall, 16313 Kedzie, at 8 pm.

The Regional Association, a cooperative organization of 15 municipalities in South Cook now in its third year, has invited all other communities in the South Cook region to attend this meeting and meet legislators from the 6th, 8th, 2nd and 41st State Senatorial Districts and the 1st, 2nd and 37th Representative districts, to discuss the proposal for a Metropolitan Area Planning Commission which grew out of a special study of planning needs conducted by the Metropolitan Housing and Planning Council.

John McPherson, Homewood, chairman of the Regional Association's organization committee and a member of the Metropolitan Housing and Planning Council committee on planning, will present a synthesis of views from the various municipalities to the legislators.

Members of local government administrations have become increasingly aware of the needs for comprehensive planning in their own communities and the necessity for seeking solutions to mutual problems such as storm drainage, transportation, zoning, etc. with their neighbors has increased the interest in planning on a regional basis. The recognition that no community is "an island unto itself" gave rise to the Regional Association. The proposal that will be discussed next Friday night may bring all the south suburbs closer to achieving some of their mutual planning goals.

Kite Flying Can Be Dangerous

Local kite flying enthusiasts are cautioned to abandon kites that become entangled in wires or other electrical installations by George Biederman, district superintendent of Public Service Co.

In reminding youngsters and their parents of the hazards involved in the popular spring sport, the utility official passed on several safety suggestions:

1. Never use metal in the construction of any part of a kite, and be sure to use ordinary kite string. Avoid the use of wire, tinsel or metallic cord.
2. Don't fly kites during an electrical storm, or when the string is wet.
3. Do not climb poles, trees or enter fenced off danger areas to retrieve a kite.

Washington News Letter

From Congressman N. M. Mason
PRESIDENT EISENHOWER'S
NEW REPUBLICANISM
(Congressional Record, Jan. 30, 1957)

Mr. Mason: Mr. Speaker, what is the "New Republicanism" that President Eisenhower talks about? According to his own description of it, judging from his messages to the congress, it was a program that will bring into being a welfare state with unlimited spending, centralized power in Washington, taking more and more of the taxpayer's earnings thru taxation, and building up a vast bureaucracy to do for people what they should be doing for themselves.

What is this New Republicanism if it is not the old Harry Hopkins, Franklin Delano Roosevelt philosophy of "Tax and tax, spend and spend, elect and elect"? It so closely resembles Roosevelt's New Deal and Truman's Fair Deal that I cannot tell them apart.

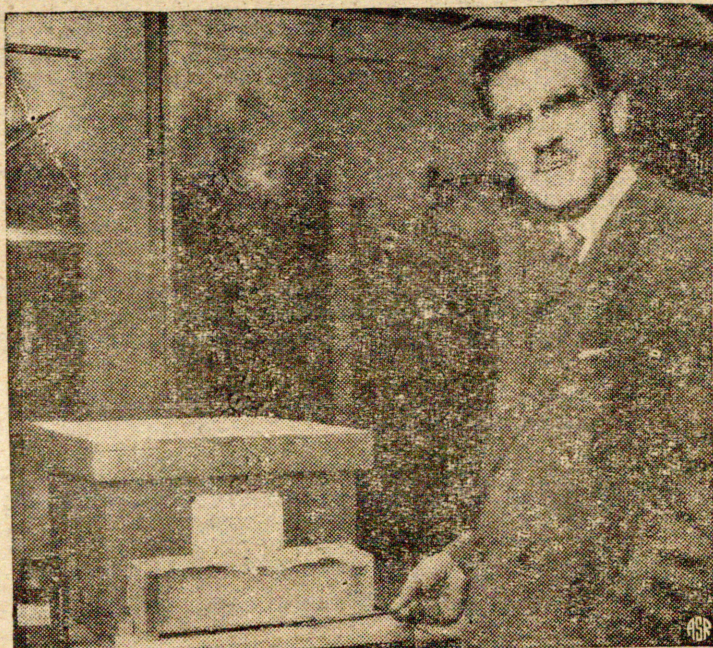

Essentially Ike's New Republicanism is a form of bribery, a program to buy votes with the voters' own money. It is based upon the theory that a bureaucracy can better spend the taxpayer's money than he can himself. Ike's $72 billion budget is an excellent example of what this New Republicanism adds up to. It indicates what the cost to the already overburdened taxpayer is going to be when New Republicanism, another name for the welfare state, becomes the order of the day.

Mr. Speaker, what the Republican party needs today is a re-education to the principles of its founder, Abraham Lincoln, a regeneration at the local and state level, a revitalizing at the grass roots. This will not take place so long as the national committee spends 90% of its campaign funds to elect the two candidates at the head of the ticket and forgets about the candidates below the top. This will not take place if our precinct level workers are not recognized and rewarded for excellent work done. This will not take place if elected representatives of the people are snubbed and cold shouldered by an "appointed" palace guard whose chief function seems to be to insulate the chief executive so he cannot learn what is going on outside his regular carefully guarded beaten track.

Mr. Speaker, the great majority of the American people are still at heart conservative; they still believe in private initiative, private ownership, property rights as well as personal rights, private operation of business on a profit basis; they still believe in our constitution and the principles of government in outlines and defines; and they want it preserved for future generations. They do not want a welfare state, with all the name means, established in the place of the government our Revolutionary Fathers set up and under which we have prospered so greatly. I predict that New Republicanism when fully understood by the American people will be repudiated overwhelmingly.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN REPUBLICANISM: At a recent meeting in Chicago 2500 Abraham Lincoln Republicans adopted six objectives to which this Republican, your congressman, subscribes. They are as follows:

New Fruit Disease Control Is the "Bees' Knees"

Dr. Robert H. Daines of Rutgers University points to his unique bee trap used to control fireblight of apples and pears.

To prevent orchard pollinating bees from spreading fireblight to apple and pear blossoms, Dr. Robert H. Daines, plant pathologist at Rutgers University has come up with the novel idea of making the bees carry the cure instead of the disease. He powders them with a fireblight-killing antibiotic, streptomycin, by means of a simple wooden trap inserted at the bee hive entrance. The bees can't get in or out without walking through the streptomycin, which clings to their bodies ready to kill or inactivate any fireblight-producing bacteria they might pick up as they gather nectar.

Dr. Daines and his associate, Dr. Michael Szkolnik of Cornell, succeeded in reducing fireblight infection of pear blossoms from 40% to less than 1% in controlled greenhouse tests. The bees did not do as well in preventing the disease in apple blossoms. The scientists attribute this to the difference in flower structure. The bee can land in the shallow nectar cup of a pear blossom feet first. The apple blossom, however, isn't so accommodating. Unlike pear blossoms, apple blossoms have stamens that are tightly clustered together around a deep calyx cup, which makes it more difficult for the bee to get into with his streptomycin-covered legs.

The plant scientists are attempting to solve this problem by nailing a cheese cloth net on the upper section of the trap and filling it with streptomycin dust. Now the bees won't only have to stomp through the stuff, they will have to take a streptomycin dusting all over.

The method is scheduled to be tested in orchards. Merck & Co., Inc. in nearby Rahway, N. J., which makes the streptomycin product Agri-Strep for plant disease control, will provide technical assistance and assay work as it has since the project began. If it works out as well as it has in the greenhouse, pear and apple growers may expect considerable saving over the present method which calls for at least 3 sprayings during the growing season.

Several other bacteriocides were tried, but streptomycin was found to be least harmful to pollen.

2. Adopt the Hoover Commission Report recommendations.

3. Balance the budget.

4. Reduce taxes by $6 billion.

5. End foreign give aways.

6. Oppose free trade.

7. Support the Bricker Amendment.

8. Rescind the Status of Forces treaty and give our men in uniform the protection guaranteed to them under the constitution while serving abroad.

9. Support McCarran-Walter law with no weakening amendments.

10. Support congressional investigations of subversion and corruption.

11. Give back to the 48 States those powers reserved for them in the Constitution which have been usurped by the federal government.

12. Develop a modern and economical system of taxation favorable to private enterprise and to individual rights.

13. Take government out of competitive business enterprises.

14. Oppose communism, socialism, and all other un-American ideologies.

15. Maintain a strong national defense with air power receiving first priority.

16. Awaken the sleeping voters and get the "stay at homes" to the issues of the hour.

"Experience is the most efficient teacher of all!" This being true, why do Presidents ignore the numerous servants of the law who have performed years of devoted judicial service on state courts and on federal courts when they are called upon to make appointments to the supreme court of the United States?

Even if one may possess a brilliant intellect and be actuated by lofty motives, he is not qualified for the station of a judge in a government of laws unless he is able and willing to subject himself to the restraint inherent in the judicial process. Such restraint is the mental discipline which prompts a qualified occupant of a judicial office to lay aside his personal notion of what the law ought to be, and to base his decision on established legal precedents and rules. This mental discipline is ordinarily the product of long and laborious legal work as a practicing lawyer, or long and laborious judicial work as a judge of an appellate court or a trial court of general jurisdiction.

The following facts are both startling and disappointing:

1. No member of the supreme court as it is now constituted ever served as a judge of a court of general jurisdiction, either state or federal.

2. Only one member of the supreme court as it is now constituted ever served as a judge upon an appellate court in any one of the forty-eight states; and

3. Only two of the nine members of the supreme court as it is now constituted ever served as an appellate judge on any federal court inferior to the Supreme Court before he was elevated to his present office.

Moreover, few of them have devoted their major efforts to the actual practice of law. Chief Justice Warren had no judicial experience and very little experience in the practice of law.

Isn't it high time for the bench, the bar, and the people of America to make certain that in the future men will be selected for service up the supreme court because they possess what Alexander Hamilton called "those qualifications which fit men for the station of judges?"

That mean wide experience in the law, and willingness to subject themselves to the restraint inherent in the judicial process.

An Outstanding Appointment

Charles Evans Hughes was one of the greatest chief justices this nation has ever had—if not the greatest. Ike's new appointee to the supreme court, Charles Evans Whittaker, promises to be a great Justice—if not as grate as the Justice for whom he was named. The new Justice has a great background, a background that promises great things.

The opinions he has handed down from the Bench in the past indicate that Judge Whittaker is independent and courageous, and is above all legally-minded and judicially inclined. His decisions on subversion, labor, and veterans have been outstanding. He has even overruled the federal government when it disregarded the constitutional rights of persons accused of crime.

When his appointment to the supreme court was made, he was asked whether he considered himself a liberal, a conservative, or a middle of the roader. His reply gives the key to his character and to his future decisions, that reply being:

"I read the law only to get an understanding of what it means, and I apply and enforce it in accordance with my understanding of its meaning."

If the majority of the court as it is now constituted would be so guided and would not permit their own feelings, beliefs, and preconceived predilections sway their opinions, the court would regain the respect that had always been given it before the New Deal era came upon us.

Build the basic unit on poles treated with penta, then expand it or add to it whenever the time, labor or money is at hand. Use each "installment" as it is built.

Newest idea in farm buildings since the introduction of pole-type construction is the erection of these pole-type structures in "installments" through the use of standard parts and details.

Many different building sizes and shapes are possible in this "multicombination" construction, introduced recently by the Agricultural Experiment Station at Oregon State College, Corvallis, Ore. More important, however, is the fact that any of the buildings can be:

1. expanded as the need arises.
2. built when the labor is at hand.
3. budgeted and built in "easy stages".
4. used while you wait to expand it or add to it.

Details of the "installment" construction of the pole-type buildings are described by Leroy Bonnickson, assistant agriculture engineer of the college, in Station Bulletin 557.

Specifications call for poles with a minimum top diameter of five inches, treated against termites and decay. Splatter boards and other wood in contact with the soil should be treated with a preservative such as penta. In fact, the bulletin states: "It is cheaper to use treated lumber (which has a higher first cost but longer life) than untreated lumber."

to the arrangement.

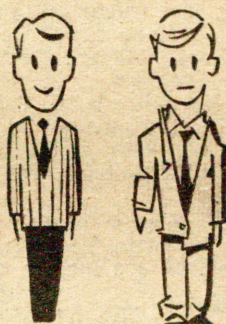

Despite good success in the sign-up, the "super pool" arrangement fizzled because tacit agreement was not received from the USDA to permit the Federal Milk Market Administrator to aid in its operation.

It was planned that all money accumulated in the "super pool" would be paid back to all Order 41 producers as an additional payment on base milk for the period, March 20 thru June 30.

The PMA action, at the outset, makes only PMA members eligible to receive the premium.

PMA Announces Plan to Finance Premium to Member-Producers

Pure Milk Association has notified all handlers in the Chicago Market that milk they purchase from the Association thru its country plants for the period, March 20 thru June 30, and used in Class I and II, will carry an additional 12c per hundredweight charge.

This additional charge will finance a premium to members delivering to the Association's 14 country receiving plants in Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana.

PMA's action will return to members who ship to PMA plants a premium of 4c per hundred over the announced March base price and 12c over the announced April, May and June base prices. Only 4c applies for March because the added charge is effective on one third of a month's supply of milk.

In a letter to handlers, Harry L. Edwards, Director of Sales for PMA, urged those buying milk direct from PMA members to pay the same premiums.

Regarding the PMA decision, Edwards said, "This action will return to our member producers about the same price that would have been effective under suspension of Order (41) provisions or by operating of a "super pool" by which the present Class I Federal Order 41 price would have increased 20c per hundred."

The Association action and announcement followed two months of stalemates and roadblocks thrown up to persistent efforts of its management and Board of Directors to stave off the 20c per hundred price drop that went into effect on farm milk on March 1 under Federal Order 41.

Since the second week in January, PMA representatives have had a series of meetings in Washington with U. S. Department of Agriculture officials and congressional leaders; and in Chicago with handlers' representatives in an attempt to get some action on farm milk prices.

The USDA consistently refused to do anything about the farmers plight even after PMA officials met with and got some pledge of assistance from congressmen in Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin, a spokesman claims. Visits to USDA in Washington by Delegations of PMA and handlers representatives to plead for action met also with a USDA rebuff.

Meanwhile there were several meetings of PMA management and board of directors personnel with same representatives of the Associated Milk Dealers of Chicago to get handlers agreement to suspend the March 1 drop and handle the suspension thru a "super pool."

Associated agreed to a "super pool" arrangement providing 100 per cent of the handlers in the market signed a written agreement to reinstate the 20c per hundred drop that went into effect on March 1.

From March 14 to March 19, marketing, and field representatives of the Association cooperated with the Associated Milk Dealers to contact all handlers to get signed written agreement

Don't Waste Your Suffering, Says Preacher

By FRANK SHEED
(Pastor, First Baptist Church)

"If God is so good, how can He allow so much suffering?" This is a question I frequently get when street preaching. I reply, "Your question really ought to be, 'Suffering costs us so much—why do so many of us waste it?'"

Suffering is an inescapable fact—as certain as death and taxes. Man can only give a partial answer to its why and wherefore. The full meaning of suffering is hidden in the all-knowing Providence of God.

God cannot intend evil for its own sake. God permits suffering only in the long run it will result in a greater good. We can see some of this good in our daily lives.

There isn't one of us that hasn't had his share of suffering. And it is generally agreed in the 'school of hard knocks.' We like to be able to say, "I came up the hard way."

Suffering is a great builder of character. We look upon the fellow who hasn't suffered as a wishy-washy type—as spoiled and undependable. For centuries parents and elders have blamed the softness of life for the degeneration of youth—"It wasn't that easy when I was a boy!"

But there is more to suffering than character building. Much of it costs us tremendously and persists in spite of good character. The loss of a dear one; the misery that comes from failure; the terrible pain of cancer. How should we take it? Simply by "grin and bear it" philosophy?

Wasted—that's what suffering is when it is merely endured—when it has no meaning other than the toleration of pain. Christianity never promised a life without suffering, but it can stop the needless waste.

Jesus Christ, the founder of Christianity, was known as the Man of Sorrows. His crucifixion was the most painful suffering in history. At the same time it was the most valuable. Jesus suffered and died for the sins of man and re-opened the gates of heaven sealed shut by the sin of Adam and Eve.

Our sufferings are not wasted when they are offered for the same valuable purpose that Jesus had—to repair the wrong done to God by the sins of man. In this way suffering is a stepping stone to Heaven.

Ask High School Press to Stress Needs of Science

Chemical industry officials are going back to the high schools to seek the solution to science's most pressing problem—developing future scientists to maintain the nation's technological superiority.

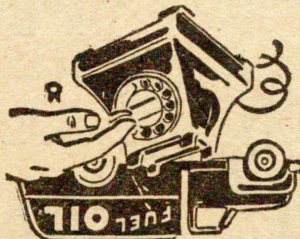

At a special press conference for high school newspaper editors on Saturday, March 23, five leaders in the chemical field asked tomorrow's journalists to help them tell high school students about career opportunities in chemistry. The advantages scientific careers hold for ambitious youths and the importance of continued chemical progress to better living standards as well as national defense will be stressed.

The event, part of Chemical Progress Week observances in Chicago, will be held at Roosevelt University's S in h a hall at 10:00 a.m. Editors of Chicago and suburban public, private and parochial schools were invited.

Criticism by Civic Federation Angers Township Tax Collectors

(CNS) Cook County township tax collectors are rising up in anger at the Civic Federation. The federation, public watchdog on taxes, has recommended eliminating the office of township collector.

Gilbert Scribner, Jr., federation president, said the 30 suburban township collectors received commissions totaling $1,800,000 last year.

Maine Township Collector Milton Tuttle said the amount was actually $118,000 and that Scribner should have known better.

Tuttle said the commissions are limited by law to 2 percent of the first $200,000 collected each year, so that no collector could earn more than $4,000 yearly. They also get minor expenses refunded.

Worth Township Collector William Harnow said, "These civic federation fellows are all for home rule, except for the townships and villages."

Oak Park Township Collector Mrs. Esther Ross agreed with Harnow.

Tuttle is vice president of the tax collectors association of Illinois. He said if the office of township collector were eliminated, everyone of the 30 suburban townships in Cook county would have to levy a new tax every year.

He said the collectors turned over $1,680,000 to the townships last year, which meant that many of them did not have to levy any taxes for poor relief or general expenses.

The money represents the 2 percent commission collected on money over $200,000.

The collectors are also angry about another statement by the Civic Federation, that they collect only the easy tax accounts and leave the rest for the county treasurer.

Tuttle said the township collectors gather from 75 to 80 percent of the tax levy.

The township collectors are especially busy in Proviso, Evanston, Oak Park, Riverside, and New Trier townships.

The federation's executive secretary, Harland C. Stockwell said, "There seems little justification for continuing in the most populous county of the state a collection system which was required in earlier days when communications, transportation, and record keeping facilities were much less efficient than those of today."

Most township collectors, however, agreed that many taxpayers prefer to pay their tax bills in their own township, rather than drive to the busy, crowded Loop.

Harnow said that the office of township collector saves much work for the county treasurer by reducing the flood of mailed tax returns that swamp the treasurer's office every year.

Much is said in print about the reaction of businessmen to the proposed record federal budget now being discussed in and out of congress.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce employed Opinion Research Corporation to poll its members to learn the actual attitudes of its members regarding governmental spending and business men's interest in this spending activity. In taking this "tight money", it is expected it on the "local level" without revealing sponsorship of the poll. The poll showed 38 per cent had no opinion on governmental spending. Of those expressing an opinion, 12 percent propose tax reduction, but a much greater percentage proposed an increase in "particular" spending. Some 9 per cent proposed greater highway building, 7 per cent wanted more spending to attract additional industry to their areas, 6 per cent wanted a larger public works program, 3 per cent expressed desire for greater aid to education, and 3 per cent desired more aid to farmers. Even those businessmen stating an active interest in governmental activity, contracted their legislators in verbal or written manner, less than once a year. It can be reasonably assumed that the men making up our congress are endowed with more than average ability to calculate the attitudes of their own areas as to spending, etc.

Many students of investment trends are of the opinion that various individual and sectional demands for governmental spending, will result in "you scratch my back and I'll scratch yours", with result there will be little or no reduction in the budget.

History teaches us that except for comparatively short periods, the trend is constantly downward in the purchasing power of the monetary unit. As to duct it on "local level" without that mortgage money will be easier as the months go by. Many economists are of the opinion that there will be a definite upsurge in business in the last half of 1957.

Standard & Poor's Corporation, one of the leading investment advisory services, conducted a business survey among a number of leading American industrialists. Among these was Herbert P. Buetow, President of Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing Co. a very successful firm.

Mr. Buetow stated that because of the diversification of their lines, their company has several built-in barometers of the general business climate. He stated that the upward swing noted in recent months indicates that general industrial levels will continue to climb. He states that a convincing indication of his company's attitude on general business is found in the fact that they spent about $25 million on new plant and equipment in 1956 and expect to spend more than this amount in 1957. In 1956 the company spent $12 million for laboratory activities and expects to spend a greater amount on this research activity in 1957. Almost half of the current profits of this firm are in products introduced since the end of World War II.

assistant farm adviser

Carl M. Bormet, Tinley Park, chairman of the county ASC committee reports 258 farms signed up for soil bank placing 3,388 acres in the acreage reserve. These acres will be removed from corn production for the 1957 crop year.

An oat variety demonstration will be established soon on the Owen Maue farm. The trial will contain eleven different varieties and should prove of interest to farmers in this area.

Pole type construction of certain farm buildings is a much discussed subject among farmers.

Herbert Kohl, Rich township farmer, has built a pole type loafing barn. The construction is sturdy and economical. The unit was built where a maximum amount of "on the farm" labor could be utilized. Careful selection of materials also helped hold costs down. The result, a useful structure which will improve the operating efficiency of the farm.

Homeowners should consider utilizing ground covers in place of grass where grass doesn't grow well or where mowing is difficult. The following ground covers grow well in this area: Purpleleaf euonymus, Myrtle, Prostrate Japanese Jumper and English Ivy.

Ground covers can also be used under trees, between the walk and the house, and in front of shrubs.

Kite flying, a traditional March sport, can be tragic unless care is exercised. Proper kite string, kept dry, is important since the string could become a conductor of electricity.

A crop of tomatoes grown this winter in University of Illinois greenhouses is speeding up development of varieties that are more resistant to cracking.

The goal is a smooth, firm ripe tomato that won't crack before its ready to pick.

It will soon be too late to get the greatest increase for nitrogen on wheat or winter grains. On land needing nitrogen, topdress 20 to 40 pounds an acre before growth starts in spring.

The Mose Hegyi family have had quite a siege of illness. Mr. Hegyi was home sick last Monday, Karen and Norman missed school Wednesday and Thursday, and Mark was home with a severe sore throat.

Joey Militello has also missed school due to illness.

Dr. "Kurt" O'Reilly has been on the "sick" list and Dr. "Bud" has been kept busy taking care of his patients as well as those of Dr. "Kurt's."

John Tabbert is hopefully awaiting his first guests of the season since opening his Martin House hotel last week. The Tabberts are looking forward to spending six months in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. as soon as possible after Donna's puppies arrive.

Last Friday evening the Cub Scouts enjoyed a skating party at the Blue Island Roller rink. They were admitted free of charge. Many of the parents accompanied them and enjoyed an evening of skating.

Bill Murray son of Mr. and Mrs. William Murphy, was home from college over the weekend.

The small pond has taken on a new look as unsightly underbrush and unwanted weeping willows have been cut down and burned. The willing workers were Messrs. Karre, Woodbury, Anderson, Hegyi and "Kenny" Hegyi. It has been suggested flowers be planted on the island to help beautify the community. The Jack Nelsons and George Carrolls have taken care of the property around the lagoon for the past summers. However, with their own grounds to care for, it proved to be quite a task. With more families sharing the view and helping with the upkeep of the lagoon, there will be more time for leisurely interests.

Ground was broken for the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Dickman last Saturday. It will be located between the Arnold and Hegyi homes.

H. L. Woodbury's brother, Francis Woodbury and his family, have purchased a new Georgian type home in Des Plaines. The family will be located closer to Mr. Woodbury's place of business.

If you are or are not interested in joining the crazy bunco club, please let Mrs. Anderson know by March 30. Thank you. Invitations were sent to all the ladies of Laguna. If you did not receive your invitation, please call me.

Mr. and Mrs. Mose Hegyi visited his brother Sunday evening and came home with an unexpected gift for the children; a pretty brown and white dog. Key-note: Guess who was on the other end of the leash at 7 am. Monday morning?

The Orland unit of the Cook County Home Bureau held their March meeting in the home of Mrs. George Sayers, Orland Park, Thursday evening. A very interesting and helpful lesson on "How to make ironing easier" was given by Mrs. John Lohmann and Mrs. Nick Cacic.

Present were: Mrs. Edward McCarthy, Mrs. Lillian Matteson, Mrs. John Lohmann, Mrs. Charles Bezdek, Mrs. Nick Cacic, Miss Clara Myrick, Mrs. Oscar Mack, Mrs. Ray Myrick, Mrs. Katherine Ihlenfeldt, Mrs. Margaret Loebe, Mrs. George Sayers and Mrs. Eric Enblom. Also present was a guest, Mrs. Pat Horton, who had come with Mrs. Enblom. Hostesses were Mrs. Edward McCarthy and Mrs. Charles Bezdek.

Donald W. Kohl

With candidate for office from the district, the April 2nd township election will probably hold more than general interest for many Alpine residents.

Donald W. Kohl, well known resident of 104 ave., is a candidate for the office of Tax collector.

Mr. Kohl is married and has two children, Donald and Mary Lou and is the third generation of Kohls to live at that address. His occupation is farming. Mr. Kohl states that if elected he will, for the convenience of the taxpayer, have a time and place for the collection of taxes in each district.

He also states that if elected he will not seek another term. It is his belief that other tax payers should have a chance for this office, which is the highest paid.

The Maue school PTA sponsored the showing of four cartoons at the school last Friday which were enjoyed by a large audience.

Den 5, of Cub Scout 218, started a new project relating to Easter, last week in the John Cruise home. Some of the group will make tulip plants from egg shells and pipe cleaners. Others are making Easter baskets for their younger brothers and sisters out of coffee cans.

Public Slow in Filing Income Tax Returns

Although the deadline is less than one month away, 1,600,000 taxpayers have not yet filed their federal income tax returns. H. Alan Long, director of the Chicago district office reveals that only 1,200,000 returns have been received so far in this filing period.

Mr. Long urged taxpayers to start at once to prepare their 1956 returns. As time passes it becomes increasingly difficult to assemble all the essential financial records of last year: receipted bills, cancelled checks and other papers needed to prepare an accurate tax return. In addition, the longer the taxpayer waits, the more pressing becomes the obligation, and in the ensuing haste some essential items might be overlooked or incorrectly entered.

In Chicago, telephone assistance for tax return preparation is available by calling Dearborn 2-4500. In other areas the nearest revenue office may be called

Friends Plan Dinner for World Famous Pastor, Dr. Preston Bradley

Dr. Preston Bradley, Chicago clergyman of world-wide renown, celebrates his 45th consecutive year in the pulpit of the city's largest Protestant church, a distinguished record unequalled in this city and one of the most unique in the annals of churches throughout the nation.

The dynamic minister has broken most of the accepted rules and credos for preaching throughout his long and colorful career and by so doing has enshrined himself in the hearts of Chicagoans and churchgoers in many parts of the world.

His huge congregation and tremendous circle of friends and followers have organized a testimonial dinner to be held April 1 in the grand ballroom of the Conrad Hilton hotel in Chicago to commemorate the occasion of his 45th anniversary. Some 1,400 reservations already have been made.

Dr. Bradley, who packs 2,200 persons into his colorful Peoples church on Lawrence ave., each Sunday, follows no specific ritual, conducts no membership drives, never mentions sectarian doctrine.

His radio broadcasts, a fami-lar and popular feature of the local radio picture for the past 33 years, draw an estimated 5,000,000 listeners weekly and he receives an average of 1,000 letters a week.

Dr. Bradley's church, which is Unitarian, has theater seats instead of pews and a simple, masculine desk instead of a pulpit. The appearance is more like that of an auditorium or theater than that of a chapel or church.

Belying his 69 years, Dr. Bradley rises at six each morning and often gives as many as four lectures a day in addition to his Sunday evening vespers half-hour on the radio. For many years he gave a dinner hour "air editorial" on current topics.

In addition he frequently broadcasts book reviews.

The rotund little man with the ever present cane and the flowing gray hair is a familiar figure on the railroads of the country—he refuses to fly—and when he travels frequently, Pullman porters often refuse to let him pay for his meals, taking up collections among themselves to play host to him.

Dr. Bradley was born the son of a blacksmith in Linden, Michigan, August 18, 1888, and was valedictorian of his high school class. He first studied to be a lawyer but was drawn inevitably into the clergy. He came to Chicago in 1910.

He has twice been invited to become a candidate for the mayoralty of the city and was offered the nomination for congressman-at-large for the state of Illinois as well as from his own, the Ninth Congressional district.

Friends of Dr. Bradley, the famous and the unknown, from all walks of life have made reservations for the dinner. Among those who have been invited and who are expected to attend are:

Governor and Mrs. William G. Stratton; Senator and Mrs. Everett Dirksen; Mayor and Mrs. Richard J. Daley; former Governor Adlai Stevenson; former Mayor Martin H. Kennelly; F. W. McPeck, executive director of the Mayor's Commission on Human Relations; Dr. and Mrs. Frank L. Edwards, State Supt., Illinois Congregational Christian Association; Dr. James Roscoe Miller, president of Northwestern University; The Very Reverend James F. Maguire, president of Loyola University; The Very Reverend Comerford J. O'Malley, president of DePaul University; Lawrence Kimpton, Chancellor of the University of Chicago; David D. Henry, president of the University of Illinois; Judge Jacob Braude; Judge Julius H. Miner; Judge Charles Doherty; Herb Graffis; Tony Weitzel; Irv Kupcinet; Nate Gross; Herb Lyon; Sydney Harris; Melvyn Douglas; Cornelia Otis Skinner; Katherine Cornell; Carl Sandburg; Bishop Shiel, and many other notables of the sports, entertainment and political worlds.

Dr. Frederick May Eliot, president of the American Unitarian Association, Boston, Mass., will be the principal speaker and will sit at the speaker's table along with leaders of every Christian faith, business and civic leaders and notables from the entertainment and sports world, all friends of the cheerful preacher from the Peoples church.

C. Hilding Anderson, master in chancery of the circuit court, and a prominent Chicago attorney, will serve as toastmaster.

A PUBLIC SERVICE OF THE

ILLINOIS STATE
BAR ASSOCIATION

Mr. Graham was Mrs. Jones' favorite tenant, and his popularity increased when she learned he was going to redecorate his apartment at his own cost. None of Mrs. Jones' other tenants had ever volunteered to do this. True to his word, Graham had workmen come in to remove an old partition, install new light fixtures, retille the bath, lay new linoleum in the kitchen, and completely repaint the apartment. Mrs. Jones was beaming thruout the entire transaction. About six weeks after the work was completed, Graham told Mrs. Jones he had been transferred to another city and would have to leave in a week. Because he had been such a model tenant, Mrs. Jones immediately released him from his lease.

Tenant Can Create Lien

Several weeks after Graham left, a variety of workmen began to call on Mrs. Jones requesting payment for the work done to Graham's apartment. "These aren't my bills," protested Mr. Jones, "they're Mr. Graham's and I thought he had paid them. Anyway, his lease provides I do not have to pay this type of bills."

Upon consulting her attorney, Mrs. Jones was dismayed to learn that under Illinois law the workmen had liens against her building for the cost of their improvements, even tho Graham's lease stated that his debts were not to create liens. Mrs. Jones learned that a lien may arise against the landlord's property when a tenant causes improvements to be made in his apartment with the landlord's consent regardless of the terms of the lease. However, if Mrs. Jones had not known of the work being done, Illinois law protects her and not lien arises.

Precautions for Landlords

There are certain steps Mrs. Jones can take to protect herself against liens caused by tenants. For example, she can refuse to permit the work to be done unless money for payment is first deposited with her. Or she can refuse unless each workman gives her a written waiver of lien before he begins work.

Cost of Tax Delinquent Lots Is Going Up

(CNS) Even the cost of buying tax delinquent vacant property in Chicago and Cook county is going up.

The tax committee of the county board has ruled that bids at tax foreclosure sales on unimproved property must equal at least 40% of the total principle of taxes due for 1946 and prior years.

The county has been accepting bids as low as 30%.

Bidders gain title to the property two years after they pay the back taxes. However, the owner of the tax delinquent property can redeem it during that period by reimbursing the bidder for the amount of the bid plus interest.

In tax foreclosure sales on vacant land, the bidder still will pay the full amount of taxes and all penalties due from 1947 to date.

Commissioner Frank Bobrytzke, committee chairman, said bids on improved tax delinquent properties will continue at 100%. However, in these cases only the back taxes for 1947 on must be paid. Anything up to 1946 is forgotten about.

In 1956 the average bid on vacant property approved by the board was 42.6%, according to William G. Donnee, board secretary who assists in the preparation of the cases.

The new policy will not alter the county board's agreements with villages, Bobrytzke said. Some villages have asked the tax committee for higher minimum bids where properties are within their corporate limits. The county goes along with their request.

For example, Oak Park, with fewer than 50 tax delinquent properties asks that 100% of back taxes be demanded.

Others are Skokie, 75%; Wilmette and Glencoe, 60%; and Berwyn, Riverside, LaGrange, LaGrange Park and Western Springs, 50%.

It was reported that Park Ridge, and Evanston require 40%. There was no immediate word whether these two suburbs would raise this.

Assistant State's Attorney Elroy C. Sandquist, Jr., who was directed by the committee to seek the tax foreclosure sales in the courts, said the new policy will meet the approval of State's Attorney Benjamin S. Adamowski.

Shortly after taking office last December, Adamowski halted all tax foreclosure sales until he and his new staff could familiarize themselves with the procedures. He later recommended increasing the minimum amount of the bids.

Under so called "friendly" foreclosure proceedings, representatives of land owners whose delinquent taxes and penalties are greater than the value of the land ask the county board to order the properties to sale, agreeing to bid specified amounts. In many cases other bidders bid more than the original agreed minimum.

The process has been used since 1942. Since then 268,856 such delinquent parcels have been restored to the active tax rolls, Bobrytzke said.

There are no grounds for divorce which are accepted in all 48 states.

(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of articles prepared by local clergy designed to produce greater church attendance between now and Easter.

I helped my church! I was there. I knew my friend, the minister, would be there. He needs me, too, so I was there. My presence helped him.

I am ready for special tasks assigned. As Christ's disciple I am glad for any call to service, be it high or lowly, knowing that he came to minister to the extent of washing his disciples feet, and give his life as a ransom for many.

I helped by giving financial support to my church. I pledged my support and I give regularly.

I feel that I am richly rewarded as I give my church my loyalty, enthusiasm and devotion. I feel that "The Answer is God." So I help my church to fulfill its God-given task.

Thought for the Day

There cometh a woman of Samaria to draw water: Jesus saith unto her, Give me to drink (John 4:7.)

This Samaritan woman had learned that the Messiah was to come. Unknowingly, she meets Him face to face at a well in Samaria. He asks of her a simple favor—"Give me to drink."

Is it not true that often we meet Christ in just such ways? It is not for us to hesitate, as did this woman, when a simple need arises. It is for us to meet each worthy need with prompt action, for Jesus says, "Inasmuch as ye have done unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

God gave abundantly and Jesus gave freely. As Christians, surely we can do no less than give willingly. Isaiah tells us that God was his salvation and "with joy shall ye draw water out of the wells of salvation." Christ, the gift of God, gives living water. He is our salvation. With joy we can draw on this living water and share it in Christian service at every opportunity.

PRAYER

Prepare our minds, our hearts, our hands, O God, with a fervent desire to meet every worthy need. Make us appreciative of all opportunities to do good and to manifest our gratitude by loyalty to Thee. In Jesus' name, Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

In God's mercy we find our salvation; in service to others we express our love for Christ. Dave J. Teter (W. Virginia)

Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature; old things are passed away: behold, all things are become new.—(II Corinthians 5, 17.)

To be given the opportunity of beginning life all over again, cleansed of wrong—of consigning the past to the past and of being, in all truth, born again—that is God's wonderful gift to those who accept Jesus Christ as His Son, our Savior and Redeemer.

Number of Tornadoes is Probably Constant-It's Just More See 'em

In 1956 about 850 tornadoes including waterspouts and funnels not reaching the ground were reported to the weather bureau's office of climatology. These tornadoes and associated storms caused the loss of about 100 lives. The number in 1956 was near the record number of 874 reported in 1955. It is interesting to note that even though the number of occurrences was nearly a record, the loss of life was less than half of the average for the past 41 years. This is some evidence of the value of the weather bureau's improved tornado forecasting and warning services. It is also true that the public is becoming better informed as to precautions to be followed when tornadoes are forecast or when a warning of a tornado in progress is issued, or when a tornado is actually observed.

There has been a large increase in the number of tornadoes reported in the past few years. From 1916 to 1950 the yearly average was about 150. In 1951 there were 304, in 1952 273, in 1953 542, and in 1954 702 tornadoes. The increase may be more apparent than real, since many earlier tornadoes may not have been reported to the weather bureau. The bureau must rely on outside sources for tornado reports, since they are only infrequently seen by weather observers. As the country becomes more thickly settled it would be expected that fewer tornadoes would occur without being sighted by some of the populace.

It would also be expected that the increase in settlement might lead to an increasing number of lives lost each year and to an increasing amount of property damage. For example, in the year 1953 tornadoes struck a few large cities. And the consequent loss of life was over 500 in that year. This is some indication of what can be expected if the paths of future tornadoes happen to be in thickly populated areas. And it shows the importance of being informed as to safety precautions to follow if you are ever in the path of a tornado.

Tornadoes occurred on 21 days during 1956 in Illinois. There were six each in April and August and one or more during each of February, March, May, June, July and September. Here were six tornado deaths. All occurred in St. Clair county Feb. 25. This was the most destructive storm of the year. There was heavy damage also near Buckley on March 6 and in Tinley Park Aug. 23.

The average annual occurrence of tornadoes for Illinois is 5 per year occurring on an average of three days.

"Here," said Jack Moxey, handing me several policies, "I've got about every kind of insurance I need for my house."

"You do have a lot of policies," I admitted as I looked them over. He had Fire Insurance on his house and a Floater on his personal property with our agency, and Comprehensive Personal Liability, Residential Glass Breakage Residence & Outside Theft, from other sources.

"However, Jack," I continued, "a new type of policy is available that combines all five of these policies in one. It's called The Homeowner's."

"What's in it for me?" Jack asked.

"First of all, there's just the one policy, with just one agent, and one expiration date. Your coverage won't be expiring at any and all times of the year. It will plug any gaps in your protection. And save you about 20% in cost."

"Also, if you carry insurance on your home equal to 80% or more of its full replacement cost, in event of fire or other insured damage, you'll receive the replacement cost WITHOUT depreciation. In other words, you'll have money enough to build again."

"That sounds good," said Jack, "let's write it up."

Stop by and let us present the facts and figures on the Homeowner's policy to you.

Carpentier Favors Limit on Highway Speed

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier told members of the Illinois State Medical Society in a speech at Springfield last Sunday, that he is "completely and wholeheartedly" in support of Gov. William G. Stratton's legislative program for highway safety.

The governor's program calls for an absolute speed limit of 65 miles per hour by day and 55 miles at night; an increase in number of state highway patrol men and strict enforcement of existing traffic laws by our courts and a more accurate reporting of traffic violations. The governor also advocates chemical tests for the determination of drunken driving, a law requiring re-examination of all drivers over 70 and installation of high school driver training programs in our high schools.

Secretary Carpentier said recent studies have shown that many drivers are not qualified to drive at speeds exceeding 50 miles per hour on dry roads. He also pointed out that rural motor vehicle accidents in the suburbs were more than double those in the urban sectors, definitely indicating the need for more highway police for patrolling action.

Driver training courses in our high schools are a "must", Secretary Carpentier told members of the Medical Society. "During the next ten years more than one million young people will be licensed drivers. If we fail to give them now, the training and understanding necessary to properly handle this lethal weapon, the automobile, we are in the same position as a parent who hands a loaded gun to a child," Mr. Carpentier said.
